

Coast Park Henley Beach South

Jensen Planning & Design, in association with MCE Consulting Engineers were engaged by the City of Charles Sturt to design and document a section of the "Coast Park" recreation trail that stretches along Adelaide's metropolitan coastline from Sellicks Beach to North Haven, approximately 70 kms of coastline.

The project involved resolving civil engineering issues relating to stormwater collection, and resolving traffic and movement conflicts between the different user groups.

An issues and options report was produced for council to provide guidance in the preferred direction.

A concept plan based on the preferred option was then produced for consultation with local residents and interest groups.

This project is currently under documentation, with tender and construction likely to proceed later this year.
